Vital Pulpotomy for Fractured Anteriors*

By George E. Thoma, D.D.S., Springfield, Illinois

[Editor's Note: Dr. George E. Thoma was born in Springfield, Illinois, December 30, 1911. He was graduated from St. Louis University in 1934 and entered the practice of dentistry that same year in Springfield. He has served on various committees of both his local and state dental societies. Dr. Thoma is married and the father of five children. His hobbies are golf and gardening.]

The most common accident in children is a fracture of the anterior teeth. The net result presents quite a problem both to the dentist, the young patient and the parents. Before the pulpotomy came into being, the answer to the question was either removal of the fractured tooth or a pulpectomy. The extraction then presented the necessity of making a retainer either fixed or removable and carrying along the youngster until adulthood when an esthetic fixed bridge could be made. The pulpectomy meant a dead nerve and a possible abscess which could be corrected by a subsequent apicoectomy. Both of these methods are on the loss side as they present a condition wherein one method means that a valuable tooth is lost and the other method means further destroying a vital nerve.

Not all fractured anterior teeth need a pulpotomy. A good rule to follow is the exposure of the nerve by the fracture. If there is no exposure of the nerve by the fracture, a radiogram is taken for comparative analysis. The fractured tooth is sterilized with trichloroacetic acid and eugenol, painted with copalite, a sedative dressing of zinc oxide, eugenol and calcium hydroxide is placed immediately over the fracture line, an orthodontia band is constructed and cemented to the tooth with crown and bridge cement. The youngster is given a periodic examination time, in order that the tooth may be examined clinically and radiographically.

If too long a time elapses after the fracture and the nerve is putrescent, a pulpectomy had best be performed. An exposure of the nerve in a fracture calls for, we believe, the necessity of a pulpotomy. A radiograph is taken so that the nerve canal can be outlined and to make certain that there are no further fractures in the root.

A topical anesthetic is applied to the gum tissue, sterilized with metaphen and 2% novocaine injected. If a rubber dam can be used this is advisable, however, a number 2 cotton roll strategically placed is most generally used. The patient is instructed not to close the mouth or to investigate proceedings with his tongue.

The tooth is sterilized with alcohol and with a sterilized No. 558 bur the coronal portion of the pulp is opened. As soon as the mesial-distal width is made, a sterilized round bur large enough to fit the canal is revolved slowly backwards so that the coronal portion of the nerve is destroyed. Be careful not to pull out the nerve with the bur. The nerve is literally crushed with the bur. A considerable hemorrhage will ensue, this is stopped with adrenalin chloride on cotton pellets and slight pressure can be used. The debris in the canal is washed with sterile distilled water or with hydrogen peroxide, this must be thoroughly done otherwise the hemorrhage will tend to discolor the tooth. If hemorrhage has not stopped, repeat with adrenalin chloride. The nerve stump is touched with phenol.

A mix is made of calcium hydroxide (Lilly and Company's slaked lime) and distilled water into a paste that can be carried to the canal and placed over the amputated nerve. Some operators use novocaine with calcium hydroxide which apparently works very nicely. The calcium hydroxide is worked and dried with cotton pellets. A mix of crown and bridge cement is placed immediately over the calcium hydroxide. Do not use pressure here as the calcium hydroxide has no body and all the water is taken from it. It can move around in the canal. A porcelain or cement filling can be used and the patient dismissed.

Now the remarkable thing is that this tooth will not be sore or hurt the patient at all. If any pain is in evidence, it will be from the site of puncture of the injection in the gum. The tooth is not sensitive to hot or cold or to percussion.

Calcium hydroxide is radiolucent and will show blank in the x-ray (see Fig. 1) and actually is much further down than shows in the radiogram. In about six weeks or two months new dentin can be demonstrated in the radiogram. This appears as a solid line where the vital nerve was amputated. See Fig. 2.

This tooth was completed by cementing to place a $\frac{3}{4}$ crown with 3 pins, a mesial, distal and cingulum pin. As the photograph will show, there is very little retention and yet this restoration has certainly fulfilled the functional and esthetic requirement. See Fig. 3.

Pulpotomies are not confined to just fractured anterior teeth. They work extremely well in deciduous teeth and our youngest patient has been just over 3 years of age.

Pulpotomies will also work in adolescent all those operators who are attempting to maintain a functional dental arch.

I am convinced that a pulpotomy can be done anytime up to the cessation of the growth pattern of the individual. The pulpotomy provides a new weapon in our attack on dental disease. It is a quick, sure means of rehabilitation of a tooth that is in dire danger of being lost forever. The facility of the technic and the positive results will appeal to

CALENDAR OF SCHOOL HOLIDAYS AND VACATION DATES

In an effort to provide helpful information to dental society members, your Committee on Dental Health Education, for the second year, has compiled a calendar of school holidays and vacation dates for the Chicago Public Schools, the Lutheran Board of Christian Education Schools, the Board of Jewish Education Schools, and the Catholic Schools of the Archdiocese of Chicago. Armed with this information, it is hoped that dental society members can schedule many appointments for school-aged children on the indicated "out-of-school" dates and thus relieve some of the congestion on Saturdays and after-school hours.

School systems outside of Chicago will have Teachers' Institutes and other non-school days that will differ from the schedule in Chicago, but in general holidays and vacation periods will be similar. Parochial schools will have certain non-school days not indicated in the following schedule but school children are expected to engage in devotional activities and usually would not be available for dental appointments.

Chicago Public Schools

October 13—Columbus Day
 November 4—Election Day
 November 11—Armistice Day
 November 27-28—Thanksgiving
 December 20 thru January 3—Christmas Holidays
 January 29—No school
 February 12—Lincoln's Birthday
 February 22—Washington's Birthday
 April 3—Good Friday
 April 25 thru May 2—Spring Vacation
 June 25—No school
 June 26—Summer Vacation starts at 11 a.m.

Jewish Schools

The vacation periods and holidays of these schools are identical with those of the public schools.

Archdiocese Schools

October 13—Columbus Day
 November 11—Armistice Day
 November 27-28—Thanksgiving
 December 8—Immaculate Conception
 December 24-Jan. 3—Christmas Holidays
 January 30—Free day
 February 12—Lincoln's Birthday
 February 22—Washington's Birthday
 April 2-6—Easter Recess
 May 14—Ascension Day
 June 11—Summer Vacation

Lutheran Schools

The holidays and vacation periods for these schools are identical with those of the public schools. In addition October 16-17 and January 19 are non-school days. April 1 thru 6 Easter Vacation.

EDITORIAL

AN APPEAL FOR FUNDS

Dentists interested in political reform will be interested in an idea recently promulgated. It is now deemed entirely ethical for a dentist to assert dominance and leadership in effecting political reform. Dentistry is inexorably linked to the current political situation. The political future of dentistry will be determined by politicians.

It has been suggested that on election day dentists arrange to declare a holiday, providing, of course, for essential services. This suggestion ties in with the further suggestion that on election day dentists make their automobiles available to transport voters to the polls.

The success of this idea naturally depends upon the amount of interest developed and the resulting degree of cooperation.

The Interprofessional Committee* stands ready, willing and able to assist in carrying out this idea. On this Committee a number of very earnest dentists have been working diligently for months, screening, interviewing and assessing the various candidates in Cook County for legislative office. This phase of the task has been practically completed and listing of the endorsed candidates has been and will continue to be published in the FORTNIGHTLY REVIEW of the Chicago Dental Society.

The endorsed candidates are selected without reference to partisan politics. We are convinced that these candidates can be relied upon to serve the best interest of dentistry and private enterprise in general. With this list of endorsed candidates at hand, one can vote intelligently in the November election. Few dentists have the time or inclination to delve into individual candidate's records and capabilities. This the Interprofessional Committee has done for you.

No one who witnessed the proceedings of the National Democratic and Republican Conventions, can doubt for a moment the effectiveness of ORGANIZATION and the futility of detached individual activities. The Interprofessional Committee provides the ORGANIZATION with which dentistry can effectively demonstrate its political power in Cook County.

In order to insure the election of our candidates, we must transform cloak-room oratory, personal resentment and even anger into positive political action. This involves the greatest possible political support to our candidates.

The officers and the various committees of this association have spent many long hours at this political task and they are prepared to spend many more. They have contributed financially to the Committee and stand ready to contribute again.

The Committee needs funds to carry on its work. A contribution to this Committee will exceed in effectiveness any comparable contribution.

It has been suggested that a contribution of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) from all the dentists of Cook County would enable this committee to do a tremendous job. In suggesting this figure we are very well aware of the never-ending demands made upon dentists for various research and other funds. This request for contributions is not a continuous demand such as applies to the others. This is a one-time request for funds to assist in electing to office the men who will make our laws.

*An association of physicians, dentists, pharmacists and auxiliaries dedicated to the preservation of the American way of life and to the maintenance of medicine and allied services as free institutions in a free society.

If, for instance, an annual State registration bill should be passed by the legislature, it is entirely probable that a minimum fee of $25.00 per year will be exacted. Election of our selected candidates will go far to prevent any such law being enacted. There are many more practical reasons why a contribution to this Committee is to the welfare of the individual dentist. Lack of space prevents the complete enumeration of these.

We earnestly urge you NOW, while you are considering the matter, to send your check to the Interprofessional Committee of Cook County, 25 East Washington Street, Chicago, Illinois.

FLUORIDATION NOTEBOOK

DENTAL SOCIETY SECRETARY REFUTES ARGUMENTS OF FLUORIDATION OPPONENTS

[Editor's Note: At a recent public hearing of the Chicago City Council Sub-Committee on Fluoridation, Dr. J. Roy Doty, Secretary of the A.D.A. Council on Dental Therapeutics, and Dr. Samuel R. Kleiman, Secretary of the Chicago Dental Society, were selected to carry the burden of rebuttal concerning statements made by the opponents to fluoridation. Both men did an excellent and effective job of carrying out this assignment. The text of Dr. Kleiman's presentation follows.]

"As Secretary of the Chicago Dental Society, it is my privilege as well as a civic duty to clarify certain non-scientific statements made by various persons who purport to be in opposition to the fluoridation of Chicago water as a health measure intended to help reduce the ever-increasing incidence of dental caries in children.

"No attempt will be made to answer many of the carelessly presented statements made in opposition to fluoridation. We will confine our rebuttal remarks to the following five points which we feel most seriously tend to cloud the thinking of uninformed persons and which utilize prejudice, misinformation, half-truths, and outright mishandling of fact:

"1. It has been stated that fluoridation is a Communistic attempt on a mass basis to poison large segments of our population and to "soften-up" our national resistance for further subversive activities!

"Inflammatory and irresponsible statements of this type have no legitimate place in any scientific hearing. It is a travesty to suppose that the very organizations upon which our nation most depends for its health, welfare, and well-being would be so gullible and inept as to become tools of subversive powers. The American Dental Association, the Chicago Dental Society, the American Medical Association, the Chicago Medical Society, the United States Public Health Service, the American Public Health Association, the American Water Works Association, the National Research Council, the American Association of Public Health Dentists, the Illinois Department of Public Health, the Chicago Health Department, and the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago, all have studied fluoridation carefully, have approved its use as a decay-reducing measure, and have urged that its benefits be made available to our children as quickly as possible.

"If these organizations have fallen prey to ulterior and subversive forces, then the very foundations of our American way of life have crumbled. Since, on the basis of scientific observation and experimentation by many of these organizations, fluoridation has proved a safe, satisfactory, and effective means of helping to reduce dental decay, we maintain that our opponent's statement relative to Communism is refuted.

"2. It has been stated that fluoridation is "creeping socialization" and socialized medicine.

"It is no more 'socialistic' to fluoridate the water supply than it is to chlorinate the water or even provide the water in the first place. The community can provide any or all of these services more efficiently, more economically, and more safely than can the individual citizen.

"The American Dental Association repeatedly has stated that dental care and the prevention of dental disabilities are first the responsibility of the home; then the responsibility of the community, the state, or the nation in the event any one of the preceding fails to fulfill its obligation. Since dental decay occurs six times faster in children than it is being corrected, it is evident that preventive measures employed in the home are not sufficient to cope with this health hazard. In such an instance, any community which studies carefully a dental health measure and then provides that measure to its population is performing a function approved and encouraged by the dental profession. A local community which provides such health services in the best interests of its population is not engaging in socialism. Rather it is helping to solve its own problems at the grass roots level.

"Fluoridation is not medication. It is not intended to cure a disease. It is intended to help prevent a disease—dental decay.

"Fluoridation is not the adding of a foreign or unusual substance to a water supply. It simply is providing in a controlled manner an element which nature in an uncontrolled manner has provided to more than 1400 communities throughout our nation. Fifty-five of the 103 water supplies in Cook, Lake, and Du Page Counties contain fluorine.

"3. One of the opponents stated and caused to be published in a Chicago newspaper a statement that the United States Public Health Service disapproves of fluoridation.

"Such a statement is entirely untrue. The United States Public Health Service for a period of time assumed a conservative attitude toward this procedure until the evidence of its dental benefits was overwhelming. In 1950, the United States Public Health Service approved and urged that the benefits of fluoridation be made available to all fluoride-free water supplies as quickly as possible.

"4. The opponents of fluoridation have stated that this public health measure is an invasion of personal rights and human liberties.

"This same accusation was made when chlorination first was used as a public health measure. It has been used in relation to immunization, pasteurization of milk, and quarantine for contagious diseases. Any health measure which provides for the greatest amount of good to the greatest possible number of persons, may place some restriction upon a few, but in the interest of community health such restriction cannot be viewed as an invasion of personal rights nor a curtailment of personal liberties. In fact, in communities where the water supply is deficient in basic elements one might ask if personal rights are not being discriminated against by not providing the missing elements.

"5. It has been stated that fluoridation has not resulted in a reduction in dental decay in children.

"Statistics reports from many communities now enjoying fluoridation indicate that there is a gradual percentage of reduction toward the levels experienced in communities using naturally contained fluorine.

"Dr. J. Roy Blayney, Director of the Zoller Dental Clinic, and the Director of the Evanston, Illinois fluoridation program, reported recently that children in Evanston 6 to 8 years of age who have ingested fluoridated water for only 5 years now show a 46 per cent reduction in dental decay in their permanent teeth.

"In light of the above rebuttal statements and in view of the approval of all national, state, and local health and welfare organizations, and owing to the fact that there has been no valid objection raised by any organization and no objections of any kind raised by reputable, recognized, established health or welfare organizations, we respectfully submit that it is in order for the special sub-committee on fluoridation to recommend the adoption of a fluoridation ordinance based upon the resolution presented by Alderman Cilella.

"To postpone the utilization of this valuable, safe public health measure is but to penalize the children of today and to jeopardize the health of the adults of tomorrow."

ABSTRACTS

ORAL ADMINISTRATION OF NaF

With fluoridation of city water an operating reality, corroboration of the effect of orally administered fluoride upon the inorganic ingredients of various body fluids is needed.

The authors administered NaF to determine its influence upon the salivary blood and urinary calcium level.

Results indicated that blood calcium level was reduced below normal while salivary and urinary calcium showed a marked rise.

The high concentration of calcium discharged into the saliva, perhaps in the form of CaF_2 , implies that fluorides taken orally pass through the salivary glands by way of the blood. There may be a correlation between caries immunity and mottled enamel in this respect.—"Effects of Oral Administration of NaF Upon Salivary, Blood and Urinary Calcium Level (1st report)" by N. Moriyama and K. Kurosu. The Shikwa Gahuko, May, 1952.—J.N.L.

CANCER OF THE HANDS

The author again cautions the dentist that careless use of the x-ray makes him subject to radiation damage and subsequent cancer of the hands. The small but persistent number of cases indicates that occasionally dentists relax their caution and hold films in the mouths of their patients.

The manifestations of radiation damage are dryness, scaliness, fissuring, ulceration, telangiectasis, atrophy, keratosis, and squamous cell carcinoma. Treatment of dryness and scaliness is by lotions and creams. Fissures, abrasions, and ulcerations are treated by crusting with Mercurochrome or scarlet red ointment—impregnated dressings—keratosis by electrodissection or chemical cauterization.

Cancer may be treated by surgery, electrosurgery or chemosurgery. Radium or roentgen ray therapy is contraindicated. Prevent by being careful.—"Roentgen Ray Cancer of the Hands in Dentists," by F. E. Mohs, M.D., Madison, Wis. J.A.D.A., August, 1952.—J.N.L.

TORUS PALATINUS

Torus Palatinus clinically is a growth in the palate. This type of growth straddles the palate and varies in size and shape. They are lodged only on the oral side of the palate and have no counterpart upon the nasopalatine side. They are seen only after early adult life. The genesis of the growths is unknown. Prevalent opinions in this respect are speculative rather than factual. It is possible that they are latent osteogenic remnants of embryonic cells at the suture line.

It is certain that these growths do not arise spontaneously. They are never seen in childhood.

Their removal is indicated because of physical rather than pathological reasons. They are removed surgically by anaesthetizing the anterior palatine and nasopalatine nerves together with infiltration.

The incision is antero-posteriorly over the middle of the crest. Lateral incisions invite sloughing.

Care in the use of mallet and chisel is indicated to prevent fracture. Rather use rongeur, surgical burs and files.

The wound is closed after complete debridement and smoothing. It is sutured and held with gauze sponges. Some edge sloughing may occur. The wound eventually closes by granulation; after sufficient time they epithelialize. In no case was a tendency to recurrence observed.—"Torus Palatinus" by A. Bergen, D.D.S., New York City. Dental Items of Interest, July, 1952.—J.N.L.

THE CHILD IN THE DENTAL OFFICE

In the management of children the dentist faces a two-fold problem—first, the mastering of the child himself and, second, the application of dental principles.

To master children, it is important to like children and then to consider the child as an individual who is suspicious, fearful and impressionable and who wishes to be treated as a grownup. The dentist should be careful not to give evidence of nervousness, agitation, abruptness, haste, or inattention.

In operative procedures it is well to remember that children, too, have sensitive cavities and care, patience and medicaments should be used.

The parent should be advised of the dental condition with an explanation of oral needs of the child and the importance of parental cooperation.

The parent should not be in the operating room with the child.—"The Child in the Dental Office," by E. J. Ericksen, D.D.S., Washington State Dental Journal, April, 1952. J.N.L.

MUCINASE—A POSSIBLE MEANS OF REDUCING CALCULUS FORMATION

The processes of attachment of the components of calculus are of the utmost importance. The author believes that niacin plays a part in this and that if this niacin could be altered or destroyed by a mucinase, calculus would be reduced or changed.

In a clinical test on patients of known calculus formation, mucinase when added to a compatible dentifrice—

1. reduced the amount of calculus formed;
2. that which did form was of a softer type than usual.

Patients experienced no discomfort and the gingival tissues were firm and pink.—G. G. Stewart, A.B., D.D.S., Philadelphia, Pa. Journal of Periodontology, April, 1952. J.N.L.

ORAL SENSORY THRESHOLDS

The masticatory efficiency of denture wearers is only one-fourth that of the normal dentition on the average, but it varies considerably from one individual to another. It is possible that reduced or blunted oral sensations would cause food manipulation to be less effective.

This study is concerned with the ability of individuals with natural and others with artificial dentitions to distinguish thickness, hardness, light touch, and texture.

In judgment of thickness, using discs, there is no difference.

In judgment of hardness, using soft rubber discs, there is no difference, but with hard rubber discs, denture wearers are less sensitive.

The tactile threshold for denture wearers is ten times greater than that of the natural dentition.

The ability to distinguish food texture is greatly reduced in denture wearers.

Sensory discrimination of denture patients is not impaired when the forces and movements involved are of the magnitude used in mastication. When small force or movement is involved, as in determination of texture, the denture patient is handicapped.—"Oral Sensory Thresholds of Persons With Natural and Artificial Dentitions" by R. S. Manly, C. Pfaffman, D. Lathrop, and J. Keyser. Journal of Dent. Research, June, 1952. J.N.L.

SHORT CUTS

The author has compiled a list of "short cuts" or "easier ways" to perform some of the tasks involved in the practice of dentistry.

ROENTGENOGRAMS

The brilliance and detail of x-rays can be standardized by using the old-fashioned developer powders, deoxygenizing, and maintaining and changing solutions only two or three times a year.

NEWS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

ENGLEWOOD MEETING WILL FEATURE FLUORIDATION

The first fall meeting of the Englewood Branch of the Chicago Dental Society will be held at Nielsen's Restaurant, 79th and Western, at 8:00 p.m. The program will feature a four-man panel symposium on "Fluoridation." If you have any questions you would like answered on fluoridation, this is the meeting for you! All four men on the program are authorities on their subject.

NORTH SIDE BRANCH WILL MEET OCTOBER 6

The North Side Branch of the Chicago Dental Society will hold its first meeting of the season on October 6 at the Edgewater Beach Hotel. The speaker will be Dr. Eli A. Green; his subject, "Practical Facts in Periodontia." Also, the run-off election for the office of treasurer will take place.

NEW A.D.A. DIRECTORY

An estimated 85,000 members of the dental profession will be listed in the 1953 edition of the American Dental Directory to be available in December, 1952, it has been announced by Dr. Harold Hillenbrand, secretary of the American Dental Association.

The directory lists the names and addresses of all dentists in the United States and its territories. The new publication, to be issued annually beginning with the 1953 edition, will be available at a cost of $6 if ordered by October 1 and $7.50 afterwards.

Information to be carried about each dentist will include: the character of his practice, whether general or specialized; the school of dentistry from which he received his degree; the year of his graduation, and his membership or non-membership in the A.D.A.

Names will be listed both alphabetically and by state and city.

There will also be a separate listing of specialists in seven fields of dentistry—oral pathology—oral surgery, pedodontics, orthodontics, periodontics, prosthodontics, and public health dentistry.

The directory will also include a special reference section containing lists of state societies and officers; state boards of dental examiners and secretaries, including licensure requirements; state dental health directors; colleges of dentistry and dental hygiene, dental assistant and dental laboratory technician schools; specialty boards and secretaries, and the national dental associations of the world.

The new directory will be available through the Order Department of the American Dental Association, 222 East Superior Street, Chicago 11, Illinois.

DENTISTS ARE ON THE MOVE

The nation's dentists have been tending to shift their practices from the eastern and central states to the southern and western states, it was reported recently in The Journal of the American Dental Association.

A total of 2,018 dentists moved from one state to another in 1950 and 1951 as compared with 1,883 dentists who changed their locations in 1948 and 1949, the Association's Bureau of Economic Research and Statistics reported.

California and Florida have drawn the largest number of dentists from other states within the past two years, the study showed, and more dentists have moved out of New York than any other state.

In the state-to-state relocation, the states that chalked up the largest net

I hope you like it; it's been a tremendous influence in my life. The author has been kind enough to grant his permission.—Olaf S. Opdahl.]

HOW ONE IDEA MULTIPLIED MY INCOME AND HAPPINESS

SHORTLY after I started out as a professional baseball player, I got one of the biggest shocks of my life. That was back in 1907. I was playing for Johnstown, Pennsylvania, in the Tri-State League. I was young and ambitious—wanted to get to the top—and what happened? I was fired! My whole life might have been different if I hadn't gone to the manager and asked him why he fired me.

The manager said he fired me because I was lazy! Well, that was the last thing I expected him to say. "You drag yourself around the field like a veteran who has been playing ball for twenty years," he told me. "Why do you act that way if you're not lazy?"

"Well, Bert," I said, "I'm so nervous, so scared, that I want to hide my fear from the crowd, and especially the other players on the team; besides, I hope that by taking it easy, I'll get rid of my nervousness."

"Frank," he said, "it will never work. That's the thing that is holding you down. Whatever you do after you leave here, for Heaven's sake wake yourself up, and put some life and enthusiasm into your work!"

I had been making $175 a month at Johnstown. After being fired there, I went down to Chester, Pennsylvania, in the old Atlantic League, where they paid me only $25 a month. Well, I couldn't feel very enthusiastic on that kind of money, but I began to act enthusiastic. After I was there three days, an old ball player, Danny Meehan, came to me and said: "Frank, what in the world are you doing down here in a rank bush-league like this?"

"Well, Danny," I replied, "if I knew how to get a better job, I'd go anywhere."

A week later, Danny induced New Haven, Connecticut to give me a trial! My first day in New Haven will always stand out in my memory as a great event in my life.

No one knew me in that league, so I made a resolution that nobody would ever accuse me of being lazy. I made up my mind to establish the reputation of being the most enthusiastic ball player they'd ever seen in the New England League! I thought if I could establish such a reputation, then I'd have to live up to it.

From the minute I appeared on the field, I acted like a man electrified! I acted as though I were alive with a million batteries! I threw the ball around the diamond so fast and so hard that it almost knocked our infielders' hands apart. Once, apparently trapped, I slid into third base with so much energy and force that the third baseman fumbled the ball and I was able to score an important run! Yes, it was all a show, an act I was putting on. The thermometer that day was nearly 100°. I wouldn't have been surprised if I had dropped over with a sunstroke the way I ran around the field.

Did it work? It worked like magic. Three things happened:

1. My enthusiasm almost entirely overcame my fear. In fact my nervousness began to work for me, and I played far better than I ever thought I was capable of playing. (If you are nervous, be thankful! Don't hold it back. Turn it on. Let your nerves work for you.)

2. My enthusiasm affected the other players on the team, and they, too, became enthusiastic.
3. Instead of dropping over with the heat, I felt better during the game and after it was over, than I had ever felt before!

My biggest thrill came the following morning when I read in the New Haven newspaper: "This new player, Bettger, has a barrel of enthusiasm. He inspired our boys. They not only won the game, but looked better than at any time this season." The newspapers began calling me "Pep" Bettger—the life of the team. I mailed the newspaper clippings to Bert Conn, Manager of Johnstown. Can you imagine the expression on his face as he read about "Pep" Bettger, the dub he'd tied a can to three weeks before—for being lazy?

Within ten days, enthusiasm took me from $25 a month to $185 a month—it increased my income by 700%. Let me repeat—nothing but the determination to act enthusiastic increased my income 700% in ten days! I got this stupendous increase in salary not because I could throw a ball better—or catch or hit better; not because I had any more ability as a ball player. I didn't know any more about baseball than I did before.

Then two years later—two years from the time I had been hoping to get $25 a month in that little Chester outfit, I was playing third base for the St. Louis Cardinals and had multiplied my income by thirty times! What did it? Enthusiasm alone did it . . . nothing but enthusiasm.

Two years after that, while playing a game in Chicago against the Chicago Cubs, I had a bad accident. Picking up a "swinging" bunt while on a full run I attempted to throw in the opposite direction. Something snapped in my arm. That accident forced me to give up baseball. This seemed like a great tragedy to me, at the time, but I now look back on it as one of the most fortunate events of my life.

I returned home, and for the next two years made my living riding around the streets of Philadelphia on a bicycle. I was a collector for an installment furniture concern: one dollar down and the balance in "uneasy" weekly payments. After two dismal years of collecting installments, I decided to try selling insurance with the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company.

The next ten months were the longest and most disheartening months of my life.

A dismal failure at selling life insurance, I finally concluded that I was never cut out to be a salesman, and began answering want ads for a job as a shipping clerk. I realized, however, that no matter what work I tried to do, I had to overcome a strange fear-complex that possessed me; so I joined one of Dale Carnegie's courses in Public Speaking. One night, Mr. Carnegie stopped me in the middle of a talk.

"Mr. Bettger," he said. "Just a moment . . . just a moment. Are you interested in what you are saying?"

"Yes . . . of course I am," I replied.

"Well then," said Mr. Carnegie, "why don't you talk with a little enthusiasm? How do you expect your audience to be interested if you don't put some life and animation into what you say?"

Dale Carnegie then gave our class a stirring talk on the power of enthusiasm. He got so excited during his talk he threw a chair up against the wall and broke off one of its legs.

Before I went to bed that night, I sat for an hour thinking. What Dale Carnegie said, had stirred me inside . . . my thoughts went back to my baseball days at Johnstown and New Haven. For the first time, I realized that the very fault which had threatened to wreck my career in baseball was now threatening to wreck my career as a salesman!

The decision I made that night was the turning point of my life! That decision was to stay in the insurance business and put the same enthusiasm into selling that I had put into playing baseball when I joined the New Haven team.

I shall never forget the first call I made the next day. It was my first

NEWS OF THE BRANCHES

NORTH SIDE

Here's hoping your summer was a pleasant one, and now it's time to get back to work. President Russ Boothe and his committees have been hard at work preparing for this year's Branch meetings. Dinner chairman Grant Vartabedian is accepting reservations now. You are again reminded that our goal is a minimum of 100 members for dinner. In an effort to promote fellowship, cocktails will be served from 6 to 7 in our meeting room, and dinner will be served promptly at seven. An innovation this year will be long banquet tables, headed up by a speaker's table. . . . Our guest speaker for our first meeting, Monday night, October 6, will be Dr. Eli A. Green, whose subject will be "Practical Facts In Periodontia." Our essayist is a faculty member of the University of Illinois. . . . You are reminded that one item of business will be the Run-off Election for the office of Treasurer of the North Side Branch. Bob Oppice and Bill Osmanski are the contenders. . . . Congratulations are in order for the David Raynes, who are the proud parents of a new boy. . . . News has come to us that Isador Weisbach's daughter, Sharon, has been awarded a Concert Audition at the National Music Camp at Interlocken, Michigan. Sharon can be sure her dad will be in the audience when she performs. . . . We are happy to report that Sport's Chairman Bob Pond is back at work, after a two months' hospital sojourn. . . . A hearty welcome to Leo Swoiskin who has transferred to the North Side Branch. . . . Waning vacation reports advise that Ed Kirby is again back at work, Earl Elman has just returned from the Smokies, and Councilman Ed Luebke will be out of the Wisconsin woods in time for our first meeting.—Edward O. Benson, Branch Correspondent.

SOUTH SUBURBAN

They, the more informed, say that a well-balanced man has an avocation as well as a vocation. In writing columns for past issues, the thought occurred to me that if a poll were taken of the dentists, how the results would compare with that of other professions. To my knowledge, most of the men of South Suburban definitely fall into one of two categories—fishing and golfing. There are even some who are partisans of both. Among the leading proponents of the piscatorial art is Henry Cubbon. He for the past two years has kind of gone overboard for the new spinning reel. Just what it is or supposed to do, I do not know, but if any of you are interested, just ask H. O. . . . Lloyd Bettenhausen is also one of the fishing enthusiasts and, as of this writing, is in Michigan trying his luck. . . . To get around to the golfers—I have it on good authority that Taylor Bell is one of those hardy souls that brave the elements to get in their round of golf. On several occasions Bell has been observed going at it hot and heavy in the midst of a driving rainstorm of no mean proportions. I guess that in casually running down the roster of our group, we can safely lump the majority of the men who are addicted to the game of pellet and club. . . . We have one of another species in our midst—the baseball fan. A real baseball fan eats, sleeps, and drinks baseball. Many rabid fans as of the present moment are going thru the agonies of the damned because of the inadequacies of our South Side White Sox. It is amazing how one can plummet from glorious heights to abysmal depths in the space of one short afternoon. . . . Leonard Holt and Lloyd Bettenhausen are planning to go down to St. Louis with Delegate Mike Hughes.

If there are any of you fellows interested in going along, I am sure if you will contact one of them, they will be very happy to include you in the party. . . . Dan Altier, now back from his vacation, has come up with a very sore arm which prevents him from practicing. I hope that by the time Dan reads this, everything will be well and healed. . . . Taylor Bell, a person who enjoys generous libations at times, has made arrangements to make things more accessible for himself. He has just completed the installation of a circular bar, down in his basement, which is very similar in detail to the one out at the race track. I wonder if he did not have a big day and while celebrating got the idea to duplicate the one he saw there. . . . Got word that Dykstra is out West really roughing it. He is using horses as means of locomotion to the more inaccessible places and is really living life in the raw. . . . That's all for now.—H. C. Gornstein, Branch Correspondent.

KENWOOD-HYDE PARK

Jesse Carlton, President of Kenwood this year, and his family are touring Colorado and the Grand Canyon. Jesse is getting in shape for the strenuous months ahead. . . . Which reminds me, to remind you that our first meeting will take place the first Tuesday in October at the Sherry Hotel. We will give you complete details in the next issue. So scratch the old appointment book now. Come prepared to enjoy the good fellowship of your fellow dentists and to take home a few pointers from the scientific session that will help you the rest of the year in your practice. . . . Phil and Mrs. Mathisen are spending a few weeks at the Dells in Wisconsin. We understand the golf courses are in good shape. . . . Walt Dundon has been seen riding around in a new car. It just seems that these fellows that move downtown sure rake in all the dough. . . . You will be interested in knowing that Bill DeLarye will be a new tenant in the Field Annex around the first of September. We wish you a lot of luck in your new location, Bill. Sorry to see you leave Hyde Park. . . . Bob and Mrs. Wells attended the Flower Show at the Zinser home on Lake Delavan over the week end of the sixteenth. Reports are to the effect that the gardens were really very beautiful. . . . O.K., send us some news and don't forget the first Tuesday in October. Harry Hartley, Branch Correspondent.

WEST SIDE

Your former editor of the West Side Branch, Carl Weiss, is on a vacation around Lake Michigan, Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, Canada, Mackinac Island and Traverse City. He also mentioned that the weather was perfect, which helped make his trip more enjoyable. . . . Our president, Walt Kelly, must be on a secret vacation because he has not been in his office for the past week. I hope his short vacation is a restful one before his big job starts this fall as president of our branch. . . . Harold Gillogly recently informed me by postal card that his month's vacation is almost over, mentioning that his golf was as poor as his fishing, but he enjoyed his vacation anyway. . . . TO ALL THE LOYOLA ALUMNI: Kindly make your reservation as early as possible for our Alumni Association of the School of Dentistry, Loyola University, breakfast on September 10 in the Crystal Room of the Jefferson Hotel, St. Louis, Missouri, at 8:00 a.m. We will honor Dr. Clarence O. Simpson, of St. Louis, internationally known radiologist, a 50-year graduate of our school. Please contact me at State 2-6343 for reservations. . . . DON'T FORGET the golf date for the Loyola Dental School outing at the Glendale Country Club, September 17. Contact Carl Madda, chairman. . . . W. C. Sutcher will attend the A.D.A. meeting in St. Louis and then go on to Hot Springs, Ark., for a good rest. . . . Your good help with news is much appreciated, please keep it up.—Joseph F. Porto, Branch Correspondent.

Starkle, starkle, little twink,

Wow I thunder so you think . . .

I'm not under the alfluence of in-cohol, but just an ordinary dentist who only yesterday returned from the easy-going life of the country squire to the rigors and mortises of the ways of the big city. And, so it is with most of the boys who are coming back, trying to squeeze themselves into the old rut again, and finding that some of the edges have bulged out here and there, are carefully pushing a little here and squeezing a bit there, and in a few days will be operating more efficiently than ever. . . . Now, this being a news column, and a good one I might add, and not only that, but the only one that is exclusively about our group, should and could be much better than it is. But please do not blame your poor starving reporters because the fault does not lie upon their drooping tired shoulders, my friends, but upon you. Yes, you who solidly and consistently refuse to divulge those innermost secrets of where you went and what you did. Say, do you know how the average reporter gets his news items? He first looks up his intended victim's office address, and then sneaks over and hides behind the door until his secretary goes out for coffee. Then he rushes in and grabs the doctor by the arm, twisting it mightily and at the same time shouting, "Where were you last week and what was your score the last time you played golf?", and other questions like that which a good reporter has to ask. Of course, it would be rude to tear off his arm and beat him over the head with it, and besides, the doctor might get his dander up and retaliate. Now it could be, perhaps, that my description of the interview is not entirely accurate, but I am trying to impress some of the fellows that what they do and where they go and who with, is important to the rest of us. As an affiliated group, or I might say, a family group, it is fitting that we should share our joys and our sorrows and in so doing we shall become closer together and in coming closer together, we shall become stronger as a society. . . . At this time of the year, it is almost impossible to keep track of all the goings and comings of everyone but I did find out that Bob Straub is spending a lot of time at his summer place at Flint Lake, Ind., with Mrs. Straub and the three offspring. . . . Ted Lindholm and John Lace are members of the same Lake, and when they are not in the office, well, you know where you can find them. These fellows all agree that the best moment of the vacationer's day is that moment when the flies have given up for the day and the mosquitoes have not yet taken over. . . . Congratulations are in order for the D. F. Hattendorfs; it's a boy. . . . O. K. Stafford (visitation committee please note) is in the hospital. . . . While Ralph Rudder and family were sailing on an extended trip about the great lakes, Ralph's boat got sick and had to be hospitalized, and Ralph, et al. had to come home by train and await the boat's recovery. . . . Webster Byrne attended the Toastmasters' International, at the Palmer House. . . . Bill Hillemeier and family are vacationing in Michigan. . . . Van Dam is vacationing off somewhere but I couldn't find out where, but from certain uninformed sources, we understand that he will be gone until after Labor Day. . . . A. Person is in Saugatuck, Michigan and is going to stay there just as long as he can. . . . Ed Werre is bass farming on his brother's farm for a few days. . . . Earl Adams and family are going to Eagle River. . . . George Bell is spending a few days at his New York estate. . . . Chuck Andreas is in Wisconsin. . . . Don Reynolds is also in Wisconsin, Twin Lakes, I believe. . . . Ray Wiegel is vacationing, I couldn't catch him to twist his arm, so I don't know where he went. . . . The John Heinz's are back from Beverly Shores and I was John's guest at the joint Rotary and Lions Club golf meet in August. Okay, so he beat me. . . . Your good friend and mine, seegar and all, Tom Starshak, is back from Europe. . . . Romaine Waska is going to write the next column, so address your news to him. . . . Now, one other thing. Please do not forget that there is a meeting in September. Program chairman, Bob Straub, has been beating his brains out trying to get something that will bring everybody out to the meetings, and this first one is of interest and importance to every one of us—a three-man symposium on the fluoridation question. Mark off your appointment book now.—Marion Hopkins, Assistant Branch Correspondent.

NORTH SUBURBAN

FLASH! As this column goes to the printer, word comes to us from Evanston Hospital that a sweet young thing named Mary Lou Dawson has joined "Uncle Miltie" and Mrs. D. As usual, Milt, the Sphinx, has nothing to say. . . . Chuck McArthur and his committee picked a beautiful day for our annual golf outing. O. E. Scott had Al Parcell and some other fellow operating a "shill game" on the third hole. That didn't pan out so well because C. W. Mansfield, "Pinky" Stine, and Grant MacLean (Groucho Marx's only rival) richocetted (MacLean spelling) their tee shots off the trees and bunkers onto the green. . . . Art Freeman burned up the first nine in a morning round with a nifty 36. However, on the afternoon 18, he and his playmates, Doug Cook, Doug Meinig, and "Pete" Pedersen got lost on the course. Finally, Dean Freeman's appetite got out of control and he sent the club's pro out to lead the stragglers in, so that we could attack the shrimp and steak. Ed Sullivan and Bob Fleming showed a pair of slick tee shots on the dog's-leg 10th. Jim Keith and Jim Plants rounded out that foursome. . . . Paul "The Hat" Wilcox was trying to wheedle an umbrella from Waldo Urban. He wanted to keep the sun out of his eyes. . . . Jay Welborn awarded prizes to Louie Christopher, who tallied a neat 79 over the rugged terrain for low gross honors. Louis, a southerner in yankee territory, was feuding with Chuck McArthur and

Russ Johnson. Second low gross went to Art Freeman with an 83. First low net prize was collected by Jay Welborn, who had a 72 net, followed by "Onkle Z" Shafer's 73. They were chased in by O. E. Scott and visitor, Stan Adams. There were sufficient prizes for Jim Plants, "Stevie" Stephenson, Ray Schulze, Herb Best, "Smiley" Grover, Fred Verink, Grant MacLean, and Dean C. W. Freeman. . . . Bob Fleming, who has only one wood club in his bag, took the blind bogey prize, a number five wood. Now he'll have to buy numbers two, three and four. Other b. b. awards went to Ray Schulze, Zenas Shafer, and Gene Stearns. . . . Art Leaf, the genial gentleman from Kenilworth, spent the entire day operating the club-house end of the affair. . . . Several non-golfers turned up for the dinner. Among them were Hal Schelhas and Bill Ford. . . . After a few words on the history of golf in general and the N. U. course in particular by an old-timer (I'll be disinherited for that), Peter N. Jans, the party was adjourned with Chuck McArthur's report of the prowess of an acquaintance of his, namely that southerner mentioned earlier. . . . "Bill" McGuire is back from Minocqua, Wis. . . . Gordon Chinnock, too, was rooting around in Wisconsin but now is back on the job. . . . George Postels is relaxing at his place in the same state, and Bob and Jessie Black have taken off for parts unknown. . . . Rumor has it that Tom Ronan is up in the air. Is that true, Tom? . . . Alvie Altman is taking it easy by working one day and resting for six. Is that permanent, Alvie? . . . Tee Ess Johnston, the proprietor of Johnston's Filling Station, was interrupted in the midst of one of Johnston's Super Fillings. He is bucking for a journeyman's card in the carpenters' fraternity while trying to build a roof over his head. He's over his head, all right. . . . Nick Nichols has picked a queen for a daughter-in-law, thus maintaining his reputation for being a smoothie with the lassies. . . . Bob Lasater has joined the artists' colony at

WEST SUBURBAN

Circle in red the second Tuesday in October, this is the 14th and West Suburban branch first evening meeting. The program committee has sifted through numerous clinicians and essayists and promises only the best. Remember, reserve the evening of October 14th. The first evening meeting promises to start the year with a bang. . . . End of the summer chatter—Dick Anderson of Hinsdale, our branch secretary, got to Land O' Lakes, Wisconsin for a vacation with the family. . . . Joe Brophy continues to keep his early summer promise and every couple of weeks takes the family to his favorite lake areas in Wisconsin for long restful week ends. . . . Meanwhile Barney Mulacek has been expanding his present office and has installed another chair to take care of the extra patients. . . . Wallace Kirby sets aside more time for golf while on vacation—his wife offers stiff competition and is a tough one to beat on the links. Our informant, Bob Pollock, also got away from his busy professional life and vacationed last week—sharpen up those iron shots, boys!! . . . Last month Colonel Bill Tolar participated in two weeks of intensive Organized Reserve Corps training at Camp Atterbury, Indiana. (This is not a resort operated by the Bob we know.) Bill is a member of one of the five medical ORC units training at the camp. During his training period, Bill familiarized himself with the carbine and spent considerable time on the rifle range firing this weapon. In addition, he attended classes and had a period of field practice. Highlight of the final week was a completely equipped Field Evacuation Hospital, set up by the medical trainees. The men lived and slept in tents and ate all their meals out of field mess equipment. This is roughing it! . . . ABSTRACTS

Solutions deteriorate from the presence of free oxygen. In making solutions, the water is heated to a boil to drive off the free oxygen and then cooled and the chemical added.

A base plate wax floating lid is made for the tank to keep oxygen out of the solution. This collects the oxide film that will otherwise collect on the x-ray film.

The strength of the solution is maintained by adding a deoxygenated solution made with developer replenisher powders.

The developing time is always 5 minutes at 68° F.

If films are overexposed or overdeveloped they can be reduced by fixing, washing and re-soaking in water. Then to a strong solution of hypo, add enough potassium ferricyanide to give a lemon color, immerse film until it is light enough, then wash.

WAX PATTERNS

For direct wax patterns, use a regular inlay wax core and when at about proper heat and softness add a softer inlay wax over the core, then flame and plunge into the cavity. The harder core acts as a plunger and fine detail is obtained.

Use the same wax over any crown or inlay preparation in the mouth, have patient close and chew and rough carve, and preserve to be seated on a die. It is then easily finished to a complete pattern.

Electric adaption: To readapt patterns at gingival or in pin ledge preparations, less distortion, pulling or pulp damage occurs if the low voltage instruments, standard on most dental units, are used. The point is ground to resemble a smooth explorer and voltage regulated as desired.

CARIES

In areas of high susceptibility, such as buccal surfaces of upper molars, use of a bactericidal and insoluble restoration is indicated. A combination of copper amalgam and silver amalgam, placing the copper first and the silver on top of it, is effective and successful.

In cleaning buccal areas of teeth, the patient is instructed to partly close the mouth and slide the mandible into lateral toward the side being cleaned and allow room for the brush.

Brushing and Flushing: It is possible that the food and debris loosened from the teeth in brushing may be forced back into the spaces in the act of simple expectoration. Flushing with water during brushing is necessary. A wettable tooth-powder in a glass of water with dipping of the brush and rinsing is effective.

The author believes that brushing after meals is impracticable and that rinsing and swallowing while at the table is more effective as it reduces the "explosive reaction" of the breakdown of carbohydrates to lactic acid. Let the patient brush before meals and as part of the pre-meal wash-up. Use of a urea dentifrice is indicated.

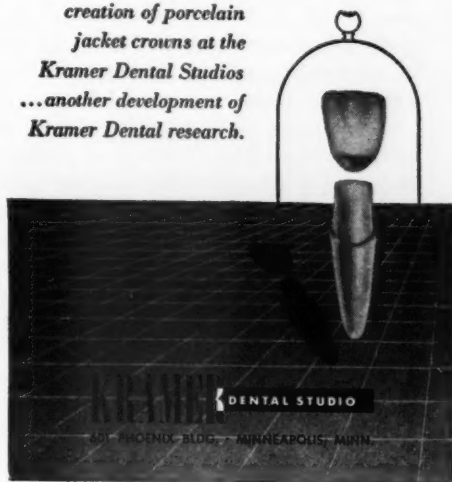

Minor orthodontics to improve tooth position or close contact points should be applied. By means of ligatures or small coil springs, from 0.011 spring wire, placed on the proximal of a temporary acrylic inlay, we can close a contact one tooth forward or back of a carious tooth. The occlusion should always be checked and possibly adjusted.

CEMENTATION

Thick glass mixing slabs should be cooled to 40°-50° F. when possible or to the lowest point without sweating. On a cold slab, zinc oxyphosphate cement yields a heavy cement that looks and acts thin, offers long working time and sets fast in the mouth. A room temperature mix looks thick, is really thin, has a short working time and sets slowly in the mouth. A flat sided bottle filled with cold water is most efficient.—"Short Cuts in Practical Dentistry," by C. J. Henschel, D.D.S. The New York Journal of Dentistry, May, 1952. J. N. L.

"crashing through" session. I made up my mind that I was going to put on a show. I was going to show this prospect the most enthusiastic salesman he'd ever seen in his life. As I pounded my fist with excitement, I expected every minute to have this man stop me and ask if I were going crazy—but he didn't.

At one stage of the interview, I noticed he raised himself to a more erect position and opened his eyes wider—but he never stopped me, except to ask questions. Did he throw me out? No, he bought! This man, Al Emmons, a grain merchant in the Bourse Building, Philadelphia, soon became one of my good friends and best boosters.

From that day on, I began to sell. The Magic of Enthusiasm began to work for me in business, just as it had in baseball.

I would not want to give anybody the impression that I think enthusiasm consists of fist-pounding . . . but, if fist-pounding is what you need to arouse yourself inside, then I am overwhelmingly for it. I know this: When I force myself to act enthusiastic, I soon feel enthusiastic.

During my thirty years of selling, I have seen enthusiasm double and treble the income of dozens of salesmen, and I have seen the lack of it cause hundreds of salesmen to fail.

I firmly believe enthusiasm is by far the biggest single factor in successful selling. For example, I know a man who is an authority on insurance—he could even write a book on the subject—and yet he can't make a decent living selling it! Why? Largely because of his lack of enthusiasm.

I know another salesman who didn't know one-tenth as much about insurance, yet he made a fortune selling it, and retired in twenty years. His name is Stanley Gettis. He now lives in Miami Beach, Florida. The reason for his outstanding success was not knowledge—it was enthusiasm!

Can you acquire enthusiasm—or must you be born with it? Certainly you can acquire it! Stanley Gettis acquired it. He became a human dynamo. How? Just by forcing himself each day to act enthusiastic. As a part of his plan, Stanley Gettis repeated a poem almost every morning for twenty years. He found that repeating it helped him generate enthusiasm for the day. It was written by Herbert Kauffman and has a good title . . .

"VICTORY"

*You are the man who used to boast
That you'd achieve the uttermost, some day.*

You merely wished a show, to demonstrate

*How much you know
And prove the distance you can go . . .
Another year we've just passed through.
What new ideas came to you? How many Big things did you do?*

Time . . . left twelve fresh months in your care

*How many of them did you share
With Opportunity and Dare again
Where you so often missed?*

We do not find you on the list of Makers Good.

*Explain the fact!
Ah no, 'twas not the chance you lacked.
As usual—you failed to ACT!*

Why don't you memorize this poem and repeat it daily. It may do for you what it did for Stanley Gettis.

Once I read a statement made by Walter P. Chrysler. I was so impressed with it, I carried it in my pocket for a week. I'll bet I read it over 40 times until I knew it by heart. I wish every salesman would memorize it: Walter P. Chrysler, when asked to give the secret of success, listed the various qualities, such as ability, capacity, energy, etc., but added that the real secret was enthusiasm—"Yes, more than enthusiasm," said Chrysler, "I would say excitement. I like to see men get excited. When they get excited, they get customers excited, and we get business."

Enthusiasm is by far the highest paid quality on earth; probably because it is one of the rarest—yet it is one of the most contagious. If you are enthusiastic, your listener is very likely to become enthusiastic, even though you may present your ideas poorly.

Enthusiasm isn't merely an outward expression. Once you begin to acquire it, enthusiasm works constantly within you. You may be sitting quietly in your home . . . an idea occurs to you . . . that idea begins to develop . . . finally, you become consumed with enthusiasm . . . nothing can stop you!

When can you begin? Right now! Just say to yourself, "This is one thing I can do!"

How can you begin? There is just one rule:

"To become enthusiastic—act enthusiastic!"

Put this rule into action for 30 days and be prepared to see astonishing results. It may easily revolutionize your entire life.

Stand up on your hind legs each morning, and repeat, with powerful gestures and all the enthusiasm you can generate, these words:

"Act enthusiastic, and you'll be enthusiastic!"

The BOSWORTH PLAN of PRACTICE MANAGEMENT

No one knows just what the economic situation will be three months—six months—a year from now. The demand for dental services may be even greater than it is today, or dentistry may be in the midst of the greatest competitive days of our history—resisting inroads from high powered sales and advertising campaigns of home construction, cars, household furnishings and personal requisites of all kinds. *The Bosworth Plan is geared to help you meet the situation whatever it may be through practice management plans designed to assure productive hours, maintain your efficiency, educate your patients and safeguard your income. gain of dentists and the totals were: California, 139 dentists; Florida, 125; Texas, 49; Virginia, 45; Colorado, 26, and Arizona, 21.

The six states in which the greatest net loss of dentists occurred were New York, 134 dentists; Illinois, 79; Michigan, 56; Minnesota, 36; Wisconsin, 32, and Iowa, 31.

The study said dentists for the most part tended to relocate their practices in states most in need of members of the profession.

It pointed out that the 10 states which drew the greatest percentage of additional dentists averaged 3,050 persons per dentist in 1950, compared to 1,604 persons per dentist in the 10 states with the greatest net loss. The national average is one dentist for each 1,733 persons.

DR. ISAAC SCHOUR REPORTS ON ISRAEL'S DENTAL HEALTH

Dr. Isaac Schour, associate dean of the University of Illinois College of Dentistry, has returned from Israel where he surveyed the dental needs of that nation on an assignment of the Unitarian Service Committee.

Dr. Schour was in Israel from June 30 to July 15, 1952. The survey involved conferences with Dr. Chaim Sheba, director general of the Ministry of Health, leaders of the Israeli dental profession, and leaders of the Hebrew University and its medical school.

Dr. Schour reports that dental decay and periodontal disease in Israel is extremely low. In a preliminary study of 150 immigrant children aged 12-14, he found an average of only one carious tooth per child.

Nevertheless, Israel has a great need for more dentists to care for a population which has increased from 600,000 to 1,500,000 since 1948. Present practitioners are advanced in years. There are very few young graduates from well-qualified schools coming into the country. This is particularly alarming since Israel has no dental school at the present time.

Dr. Schour has recommended to the Unitarian Service Committee that a dental mission be sent to that nation in 1953. In order to solve the problem of raising the level of the dental health of Israel both in the present and in the future, he has suggested a three-point program:

1. Offer postgraduate courses for Israeli dentists to raise the present standard of dental practice and the level of dental care.

2. To help organize and implement a public health program of preventive dentistry for the children of Israel so that dental needs will not accumulate in the future when they become adults.

3. To help organize and activate a dental school to train young men who will replace the older dental practitioners, and to provide postgraduate instruction for the profession. In order to further this objective, a World Federation for the Israeli Dental School was organized in London at the time of the International Dental Congress.

The measure continues the program for incoming dentists and physicians in the military services until July 1, 1953. The American Dental Association had testified in favor of the measure.

At the same time, President Truman signed another bill that will permit women dentists, physicians and other medical specialists to be given permanent commissions as officers of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps. Both bills were sponsored by Sen. Hunt (D., Wyo.).

Still another measure signed by the President recently strengthens the Marine Corps and authorizes a ceiling of 400,000 officers and men. Of interest to dentistry, the full new authorized strength of the corps would mean an estimated additional 693 dental officers to be supplied by the Navy. Marine Corps dental needs are serviced by the Navy. Under prior strength authorization, the Navy was entitled to 147 dental officers because of the Marine Corps. It will now be entitled to 840.

Meanwhile, in the Senate, a $1 billion-a-year "G.I. bill of rights" for veterans of the Korean war was passed by voice vote and sent to a Senate-House conference committee. The educational provisions in the Senate bill call for subsistence payments of $80 a month for unmarried veterans, $105 for veterans with one dependent and $130 monthly for veterans with two or more dependents. In addition, the bill provides up to $40 a month for tuition. The House version of the bill lumps tuition and subsistence payments in monthly checks of $110 for single men and $150 for veterans with dependents. Both House and Senate bills entitle veterans to one and one-half days of schooling for each day of service up to a maximum of 36 months of education.

MARTIN H. CHAKOIAN 1891-1952

Dr. Martin H. Chakoian, a member of the North Side Branch, passed away suddenly on May 1. Dr. Chakoian was graduated from St. Louis Dental College in 1914 and joined the Chicago Dental Society in 1918. He practiced at 800 N. Clark Street for many years. He is survived by his son, Dr. Henry M. Chakoian, to whom we extend our sympathy.

DR. ELLSWORTH GOLDTHORP 1867-1952

Dr. Ellsworth Goldthorp passed away July 16 after a short illness. He graduated from Northwestern University Dental School in 1891, and practiced in Chicago for over fifty years. He took an active interest in dental society affairs and served as Secretary of the Kenwood-Hyde Park Branch years ago.

We extend our sincere sympathy to his sons, Drs. Elmer and Ellsworth Goldthorp.

U. OF I. OFFERS POSTGRADUATE COURSE IN PERIODONTOLOGY

A postgraduate course designed to give clinical and basic instruction in the treatment of gingival and periodontal diseases will be offered starting Sept. 25, 1952, by the University of Illinois College of Dentistry.

The course will be of interest to dentists who are interested in preparing for specialization in the field of periodontology. It will be given under the direction of Dr. Robert G. Kesel.

Subjects which will be offered during the 11-month program are Clinical Periodontia, Special Histophysiology of the Periodontal Tissues, Special Pathology of the Periodontal Tissues, Management of Patients with Systemic Diseases, Applied Pharmacology, and Oral Bacteriology.

The faculty will include Drs. Kessel, Max Gratzinger, George Kroll, Charles G. Maurice, Samuel Pruzansky, Leo M. Sreebny, Edward C. Wach, Donald A. Wallace, and J. P. Weinmann.

Certificates will be awarded by the University to postgraduate students successfully completing the course. This certification will satisfy in part the requirements established by the American Board of Periodontology.

Credit in the Graduate College also will be given to dentists who wish to continue their studies in pursuit of a master of science degree in this field.

The registration fee for the course is $300. Enrollment will be limited. Applications and additional information can be secured from the Department of Applied Materia and Therapeutics, University of Illinois College of Dentistry, 808 S. Wood St., Chicago 12, Ill.
